DETAILED ACTION

Status of the Claims

1. Claims 1-31 are currently pending in this application.

Election/Restrictions

2. Claims 1-13 and 28-31 withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election of claims 14-26 was made without traverse in the reply filed on September 27, 2007.

Claim Objections

3. There are two claims labeled with the number 25. The numbering of claims is not in accordance with 37 CFR 1.126 which requires the original numbering of the claims to be preserved throughout the prosecution. When claims are canceled, the remaining claims must not be renumbered. When new claims are presented, they must be numbered consecutively beginning with the number next following the highest numbered claims previously presented (whether entered or not).

Misnumbered claims 25-30 have been renumbered 26-31.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:
The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Art Unit: 3628

5. Claims 15, 21, 23, and 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
6. Claim 15 recites the limitation "the local postage account" in line 2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.
7. Claims 21 and 23 recite the limitation " the dedicated local postage account " in line 1. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claims.
8. Claim 25 recites the limitation "the local postage account" in line 1. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

9. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

10. Claims 14-16, 18, 20-21, and 24-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Pierce, et al., U.S. Pat. No. 6,151,591 (Reference A of the attached PTO-892).
11. As per claim 14, Pierce teaches a method of accessing a remote postage account from a local postage evidencing device, comprising: connecting to a remote postage evidencing system via a local postage evidencing device (col. 5, lines 40-42); identifying a remote postage account on the remote postage evidencing system that is to be used to print postage on the local postage evidencing device (col. 5, lines 62-63); selecting a desired postage amount to be printed on the local postage evidencing device (col. 7, line 48); reducing a balance on the remote postage account (col. 5, lines 66-67); and printing the desired postage amount on the local postage evidencing device (col. 8, lines 2-4).

Art Unit: 3628

12. As per claim 15, Pierce teaches the method of claim 14 as described above. Pierce further teaches printing the desired postage amount on the local postage evidencing device without reducing a balance on the local postage account (col. 6, lines 4-6).

13. As per claim 16, Pierce teaches the method of claim 14 as described above. Pierce further teaches authenticating a user with the remote postage evidencing system (col. 8, line 50).

14. As per claim 18, Pierce teaches the method of claim 14 as described above. Pierce further teaches connecting to the remote postage evidencing system using a wireline connection (col. 7, line 14).

15. As per claim 20, Pierce teaches the method of claim 14 as described above. Pierce further teaches the local postage evidencing device is a postage meter (col. 11, line 65).

16. As per claim 21, Pierce teaches the method of claim 20 as described above. Pierce further teaches the dedicated local postage account is a register that reflects the amount of postage that is currently authorized on the device (col. 10, lines 60-62).

17. As per claim 24, Pierce teaches the method of claim 14 as described above. Pierce further teaches the local postage evidencing device is a personal computer coupled to a printer (col. 5, lines 24-25).

18. As per claim 25, Pierce teaches the method of claim 24 as described above. Pierce further teaches the local postage account is a stored value of postage that has been downloaded from an Internet-based postage service (col. 2, lines 47-49).

19. As per claim 26, Pierce teaches the method of claim 14 as described above. Pierce further teaches the remote postage evidencing system is an Internet-based postage service (col. 3, lines 51-55).

Art Unit: 3628

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

20. Claim 17 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pierce, et al. in view of Cordery, et al., U.S. Pat. No. 5,454,038 (Reference B of the attached PTO-892).

21. As per claim 17, Pierce teaches the method of claim 14 as described above. Pierce does not teach connecting to the remote postage evidencing system using a wireless connection; which is taught by Cordery (col. 14, line 65). It would have been prima facie obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to incorporate the above teachings of Cordery into the method taught by Pierce because a wireless connection is a known equivalent to wired networks for communication (as taught by Cordery; col. 14, lines 64-67).

22. Claim 19 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pierce, et al. in view of Lee, et al., U.S. Pat. No. 5,742,683 (Reference C of the attached PTO-892).

23. As per claim 19, Pierce teaches the method of claim 14 as described above. Pierce does not teach identifying a user to the local postage evidencing device using a biometric input; which is taught by Lee (col. 8, line 22). It would have been prima facie obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to incorporate the above teachings of Lee into the method taught by Pierce because biometric data is a known manner of securely authenticating users, similar to a password (as taught by Lee; col. 8, lines 17-22).

24. Claims 22-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pierce, et al. in view of Eddy, et al., U.S. Pat. No. 5,812,400 (Reference D of the attached PTO-892).

25. As per claim 22, Pierce teaches the method of claim 14 as described above. Pierce does not teach the local postage evidencing device is a postage dispensing kiosk; which is taught by Eddy (col. 3, line 57). It would have been prima facie obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to incorporate the above teachings of Eddy into the method taught by Pierce in order to provide the increased functionality and utility to kiosk meter users (as taught by Eddy; col. 3, lines 57-59).

26. As per claim 23, Pierce teaches the method of claim 14 as described above. Pierce further teaches the dedicated local postage account is an amount of postage purchased by a user at the device (col. 5, line 41). Eddy further teaches the device is a kiosk for the same reasons as in claim 22.

27. Claim 27 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pierce, et al. in view of Bator, et al., U.S. Pat. Pub. No. 2002/0046193 (Reference E of the attached PTO-892).

28. As per claim 27, Pierce teaches the method of claim 14 as described above. Pierce does not explicitly teach the remote postage evidencing system comprises a postage account established by the United States Postal Service; which is taught by Bator (¶ 0014). It would have been prima facie obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to incorporate the above teachings of Bator into the method taught by Pierce because the USPS historically is the entity that issues meter licenses so that proper accounting for postage can occur when mail items enter the USPS system at the point of origin (as taught by Bator; ¶¶ 0012-14).

Conclusion

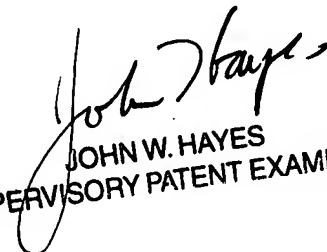

29. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Kara, U.S. Pat. No. 5,822,739 (Reference F of the attached PTO-892) teaches a method for remote postage metering of postage indicia, including demanding a desired postage amount and subsequently printing the postage indicia onto a piece of mail; wherein a user inputs certain necessary information, as well as additional desired information, into a local processor-based system.
